Background:

This speech is given by a student who is in year 12. In this speech, the student discusses why she won’t climb Uluru if she visits it at the end of Year 12. Uluru is a huge, red rock in the middle of Australia, and is a very important site for the local Aboriginal community.

Vocabulary:

Anangu: This is the name of the tribe of indigenous (first people of Australia) people who live in and around Uluru. Uluru belongs to them.

Uluru-Kata National Park Board: This is the group of people who make decisions about how to run Uluru.

Dreamtime: For indigenous people, the Dreamtime was a time in history when mythical creatures and people made the earth.

Sikh: An Indian religion.
